

ANNE

ANNE stands for
ANsbach
Notification of Electronic Resources

ANNE is our internet platform where academic documents from Ansbach University, such as theses, project papers, student research papers, can be digitally archived and made accessible to all university members.

The benefits for you at a glance

- Management, presentation, archiving of digital documents
- No costs for you
- No extra work for you, because the library posts the documents
- For almost all file formats, from pdf and jpeg to MP3 and movie files
- For all types of theses, projects, dissertations and research reports
- You decide on access (access from anywhere/access only possible on campus)
- Presentation of all documents via a dedicated website
- Can also be found via the catalog of the university library and the Bavarian union catalog and accessed depending on access control
- Full text indexing and retrieval is possible
- Browsing in collections, such as theses by department, project works ...
- Your work is better noticed and experience wider dissemination

Procedure

Send us the document by e-mail to bibliothek\(at\)hs-ansbach.dehs-ansbach.de) or come to see us in the library with a data storage medium.

Please note: A declaration of consent from the author(s) for publication on ANNE must be provided. Please use this form (in German) and send it signed to the library.

We are looking forward to your contribution to make ANNE a collection with many interesting documents from and about the university!
